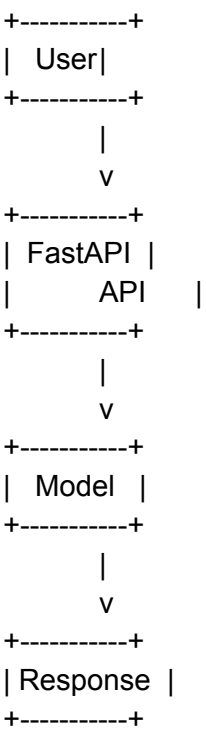
DOCUMENTATION

PHASE 0



This initial architecture represents the fundamental request flow of the application. A user submits a request to a FastAPI endpoint. The API processes and validates the request before passing it to a machine learning model. The prediction result is returned through the API to the user. Future phases will expand the architecture with AWS infrastructure, CI/CD, containerization, orchestration, monitoring, and MLOps capabilities.